Help save a million babies! #SayYes

We have been delighted with increasing local support for us to host the LifePod Appeal at Eden Park on Waitangi Day 2019.

The LifePod Appeal aims to raise $4 million to produce 2,000 LifePod incubators and save the lives of one million babies through a telethon and concert headlined by a global music icon. LifePods are the incubator invention of Sir Ray Avery, produced at a fraction of the price of alternatives.

BUT, we need your support to bring this event to Eden Park for the local and wider community! The Eden Park Trust has applied to Auckland Council for resource consent to hold the concert.

We encourage you to file a supporting submission for the LifePod Appeal HERE. Submissions close on July 12.

Both Eden Park and Sir Ray Avery urge any residents with concerns about the LifePod Appeal to contact the stadium on: info@edenpark.co.nz

You can read our latest media releases around the campaign here and more information can be found at www.edenpark.co.nz/millionbabies

Tickets for this Friday's game

Super Rugby starts back up after the June international window. Although it ended being a clean sweep, the All Blacks were uncharacteristically messy, with a lot of new caps being brought in. This makes the final three weeks of Super Rugby a great chance for other fringe players to push their claims. This week the Blues take on the Reds and although neither team is in the running to make the playoffs, the Blues will look at it as a great opportunity to take a win before a couple of tough weeks on the road in Wellington and Christchurch.

We have 125 tickets up for grabs, first in first served, from 7:00am tomorrow at Gate G reception.

*Limited to two tickets per member of The Hood.

I Love Baking Launch

Thanks to our local friends, and neighbours around the corner, at I Love Food Co we are lucky enough to have tickets to giveaway for their upcoming cookie launch!

The I Love Baking range features unique cookies with 20% of the usual sugar content being replaced with date puree, plus with the addition of oats it means no nasties for small people.

To win one of 10 family passes to their exclusive launch event held here at Eden Park, email I Love Food Co by July 4 and tell us what their cookies are partially sweetened with.

The event will be held at 3pm on Sunday 22nd July with playball for the kids on the No 1. Field (weather permitting), Kokako refreshments for mums and dads and of course – cookies!

Good luck!

*Please advise number of children and ages plus ensure you are available to attend the event as the tickets are non-transferable.
