Subject: The Hood - Acoustic barrier construction

Construction of the acoustic barrier commences next week

The acoustic barrier, which will wrap around the Cricket Avenue end of Eden Park, will begin construction next week. This plays a huge part in ensuring noise levels around the park stay well below the limits for the neighbourhood.

Construction is expected to take around five months and will take place Monday to Friday. Deliveries will be through Gate A and lifts will be done from within the stadium.

If you encounter any issues with this activity, please don't hesitate to call the hotline on 09 815 4820.

Auckland teams out for remainder of Bunnings NPC

It was announced yesterday that no Auckland-based NPC teams would take any further part in the Bunnings NPC competition this year. With the current COVID situation unresolved and no timeline to emerge from Alert Level 3, there was no way for Auckland, North Harbour or Counties Manukau to participate any further in the competition.

This is a huge blow to the organisations involved, who worked tirelessly in their planning for a way to participate in the competition.

Guns N' Roses on sale

Guns N' Roses went on sale to the general public yesterday. Although members of The Hood did enjoy presale access, if for any reason you missed out tickets are available here.
