Paris at the Park

This Sunday morning we are hosting Paris at the Park – a community event for the 2023 Rugby World Cup final, where we will broadcast the game between the All Blacks® and South Africa on the superscreen.

As the spiritual home of the All Blacks®, Paris at the Park is more than a fan zone; this is an opportunity for everyone to come together, cheer on our favourite team and be part of history. While watching the game live in France would be great, Paris at the Park promises to be an unforgettable experience.

Gates open at 7am for an 8am kick-off. Please share this with your family and friends and invite them along to sit on the turf and watch the game at the spiritual home of the All Blacks, surrounded by history. Free tickets are available via this link.
