Hidden Disabilities Sunflower Network

Eden Park is proud to be the first stadium in New Zealand to join the global Hidden Disabilities Sunflower network.

Hidden Disabilities is a globally recognised network that uses a sunflower as a visual cue for people with non-visible disabilities.

By wearing a Hidden Disabilities Sunflower, it discreetly highlights to others that a person might need additional support, help, or a little more time.

Sunflower lanyards are bright green with an easily recognisable sunflower design and these are now available for people to pick up before an event from Gate G Reception or at an event from any gate.

Reuse, Recycle, Reframe

Retro is back in style and the Eden Park team is jumping on the bandwagon.

We're on the hunt for A4 and A3 frames (the older looking the better!) and we're hoping you might be able to help.

If you have any old frames kicking around in the attic or the basement, we would love it if you could either drop them off at Gate G or respond to this email so we can arrange pickup.

They'll get a second life at the stadium as part of a retro fit-out in a very special area.
